

OLD "SI" VISITS STARR TOWNSHIP

Many Names Added to the List of Readers.

Logan, Ohio, May 27, 1907.
 EDITOR DEMOCRAT SENTINEL:—I took a short scout through Green township last Thursday and Friday and received the usual encouragement. I left Logan a little before six o'clock a. m., and struck east until I reached the infirmary road, when I turned in that direction. I got as far as the Floyd crossing and of course, found no bridge, so I had to hike up the bottom to No. 2 railroad bridge. On my way up I met Mr. Nick Tignor and son and Isaac Frasure, and was considerably encouraged by receiving two big, bright dollars and I placed their names on the list. When I got to No. 2 bridge I looked over in the Bates bottom and saw Riley Wine fertilizing for corn. Riley's name is on the list. Of course I felt pretty good, meeting three heads of families and getting three new subscribers.

I continued along the railroad until I again struck the infirmary, or Union Furnace road, following it until I struck a road leading up and along Greasy Ridge, which I followed with fair success. That Greasy Ridge hill is long and steep and I was not only tired but awful hungry. Fortunately I met an old time subscriber, John Wiskiver. He'd been reading about me and knew just what to expect. Of course he asked me to dinner and I accepted. He slipped back in the room and told his wife, no doubt cautioning her not to appear the least surprised if, in my hurry in putting down the ham and eggs, I might accidentally swallow a cup and saucer. But fortunately nothing of this kind occurred as Mrs. Wiskiver had an abundance and lots to spare, and I just want to say I enjoyed it very much.

After dinner I took along the ridge out past Frank Picketts down by Barrak Moore's toward the Furnace, cutting across a meadow and down over the hill, landing among a half a hundred Oliver Duffey's Brahma chickens and creating considerable disturbance. One old rooster, about two heads taller than myself, drew off and was just going to spur me when the Victor Music box started up the "Rogue's March." That chicken loved music and I was so glad and hungry. Of course I stayed for supper, stayed all night, had breakfast and a royal good time. Oliver started the music as soon as we got up from the supper table and kept it up until the middle of the night, when we were all compelled, in self defense, to get some rest. Mr. Duffey has more than 200 records embracing almost all the good things out. You will never know how much I enjoyed myself unless you spend a night with Duffey yourself.

The next morning I took up over the hill near J. M. Loomis' place and out along the ridge until I struck Nelsonville Route 2, following the route for more than two miles. At early noon I reached the home of Mr. A. E. Woodard where, of course, invited myself to dinner, and of course, did myself justice, and can't help but think Mr. Woodard an injustice. It wasn't hardly fair to eat so much but there was such a plenty and so well prepared that I couldn't help myself. After dinner I spent a very pleasant half hour in social converse with Mr. Woodard, and found him to be a very pleasant and well informed gentleman.

I started on my way to the Furnace, reaching there about fifteen minutes before train time, not near enough to eat supper, and necessarily got home hungry, to the utter of dismay my wife, but I promised her I'd never do it again.

WELLSTON DEFEATS LOGAN

The Visitors Whooped 'Em Up In First.

Wellston—Jackson combination, with our old team mate Riley twirling, defeats Logan by the score of 5 to 2.

Errors in the first two innings, looses game for Smithers.
 The sluggers were helpless with Pennybaker's pitching and were only able to secure three hits in seven innings off the crack south-paw.
 Over anxious to defeat Wellston and give Riley a severe drubbing was the cause of "Our Boys" amassing a total of five errors, in the first inning, combined with two singles and a couple stolen bases gave the visitors four runs and the game. This is the way it happened:—Corbin, first up, singled and stole second, and went to third when "Old Reliable Webb" muffed Walburn's line drive. Walburn then stole second and they both scored when Nixon, a recruit whom Manager Shorr tried out in center field, missed Ray's fly, Ray taking second. Then Marshall, the slugger of the team, sent another fly to center and Nixon muffed it, but he made a good throw home and they had

Ray cornered between third and home, but in passing the ball Jones dropped Canty's perfect throw and Ray scored. Miller, next up, went out over the Jones-Shannon route, the first out. Wolf then singled and Canty threw to center field, trying to catch him stealing. Wolf taking third where he perished as Smithers braced up and fanned the next two batters. A very good ending for such a bad start.
 The visitors got one more run in the second on Corbin's second hit and steal and he scored on Walburn's two bagger. That is all the scoring the visitors did as Pennybaker went in to pitch and they only got two clean hits off of him and a scratch hit, that Beck made a great effort to reach, but only got one hand on it and it went for a hit. He also fanned nine of the heavy hitters, the last two in the sixth with two men on bases, he purposely passing Corbin, and all three batters in the seventh, making five straight, a very notable feat.

Logan scored one run in the second on Beck's two bagger and Canty's sharp single. We also made one in the fourth on some very fine base running by "Scrappy" Jones, our star third sacker. He led off with a two bagger and took third on Beck's out Riley to Miller and scored on Shannon's out Wolf to Miller, showing the crowd how nerve and skill play an important part in winning games.
 Logan lost a good chance to score in the fifth, after two men were gone. Webb was safe on Miller's muffed of Riley's assist. Buntz singled and Jones beat out an infield hit, but Buntz forced Webb off third and he was run down. Not Buntz's fault, but the same old thing, not having a coacher on the lines. After that Logan could do nothing with Riley, and the score remained five to two.
